Abandoned and unclaimed personal property discovered on campus is turned over to the University Police Department (UPD). UPD utilizes Crowdfind to assist with managing abandoned and unclaimed personal property. Items of value should be sent or brought to UPD for safekeeping. Examples of these items are: credit cards, wallets, jewelry, watches, handbags, computers, computer storage, storage media, and/or electronic devices. Other property found on campus may be disposed of by the department that oversees the building in which it was found. Examples include inexpensive clothing, personal care supplies, and similar items that do not include ownership identification. Abandoned and unclaimed property held by UPD will be disposed of after 120 days.
