

EARLY ADMISSION PROGRAM

Texas State's Early Admission Program affords local high school juniors and seniors the opportunity to take college-level courses at Texas State while still in high school. The program is intended for students whose grade point average is a B or higher, meet or exceed the university's assured freshman admission requirements, and come recommended by their high school counselor or principal. PSAT scores will be used in lieu of SAT or ACT scores until they become available. All the usual freshman deadlines (https://www.admissions.txstate.edu/future-students/priority\_dates.html) apply. For more information on the Early Admission Program, visit this Office of Undergraduate Admissions (<http://www.admissions.txstate.edu/future/admission-categories.html>) web page.

Students admitted under this option are considered non-degree seeking and are ineligible for financial aid. After high school graduation, those wishing to continue in a degree-seeking status must reapply and submit their final high school transcript.
