Texas State University offers students who live or work in or around the north Austin or Round Rock area a convenient option for completing a bachelor's or graduate degree. The Round Rock Campus (<http://www.rrc.txstate.edu>) (RRC) offers classes after 5:00 p.m. one night per week while other programs are offered during the day. In addition to admissions, advising, financial aid and veteran affairs counseling, the RRC also provides computer technology assistance, library services, study areas, workshops, and convenient parking. Students who complete their degree requirements at the RRC are Texas State students who meet all of the same admissions and graduation requirements as students at the main campus.

The RRC offers junior- and senior-level classes to complete a bachelor's degree in 10 programs as well as 12 graduate degrees and 5 post baccalaureate certificate programs. Students may enroll in hybrid and online courses and, if they choose, can complete their freshman- and sophomore-level classes at the San Marcos campus, at a community college or some other (accredited) institution then transfer to the RRC.

Undergraduate Degree Programs

To register for classes at the Round Rock Campus, students must have completed their sophomore year or at least 45 transferable hours. The 45 hours of credit must be from one of the several degree plans (<http://www.rrc.txstate.edu/about/programs/bachelors.html>) offered by the RRC. Students who intend to complete the junior- and senior-level classes at the RRC will follow the same application process (<http://www.rrc.txstate.edu/prospective/starting.html>) as other applicants to Texas State. Because the advising and orientation processes are unique to the RRC it is important to contact RRC student services as soon as possible.

Graduate Degree Programs

Students wanting to grow in their career or simply expand their knowledge can choose to pursue one of the Continuing Education, Post-Baccalaureate Certificate or Master's degrees programs offered at the Round Rock Campus.
